

Children and Family Centres

What are Children and Family Centres?

Five Children and Family Centres will be developed in WA as part of the commitment to closing the gap for Aboriginal families under a national partnership between the Australian Government and all states/ territories.

Centres will be in areas with high Aboriginal populations where there is a demonstrated need for access to improved services. Four centres will be in remote and rural areas and one will be in the metropolitan area. Locations will be announced shortly.

The centres will integrate early childhood services to provide greater access to child, maternal and health services for Aboriginal families.
